firms with subcontracts for reparations orders must accept their obligations within four weeks or be subject to a 5-percent-a-month fine by the Office for Reparations.

If after careful investigation of all matters concerned a plant cannot accept a subcontract for a reparations order it must at once make a clear and concise statement of its reasons for rejection to the appropriate HV (Main Administration) director. If after careful investigation of the situation the HV director agrees with the reasons for rejection, the problem is to be submitted to the Minister for a decision as to whether the plant is to be freed of its reparations obligation.

Highest priority is to be given to the handling of reparations orders.
